

AMENDED PROCEDURAL GUIDELINES

For

BROTHERTOWN INDIAN NATION PEACEMAKERS

INTRODUCTION

The Brothertown Indian Nation Peacemakers pledge to preserve the sovereignty of the Nation and seek to establish a procedure by which disputes can be resolved in an informal and inexpensive manner.

The Peacemakers and judges of the tribal court will adhere to the following principles: justice is best served by pursuing the TRUTH and restoring BALANCE, all parties involved in the resolution of a dispute should be voluntary participants, and the health of the entire Brothertown community depends on the ability of each individual member to recognize that we are all connected.

The Peacemakers are an independent entity elected by the tribal membership, separate and apart from the Tribal Council and yet equal to the Tribal Council. The Peacemakers are dependent upon the Tribal Council to provide funds to operate the court system.
